Downhill Skiing	Groomed and powder	104 millimeters	Tip and Tail Rocker

Features

- Balsa wood cores are combined with carbon and 2 sheets of metal to maximize stability and damp vibrations for a smooth and responsive ride
- Carbon chassis reduce weight without sacrificing performance
- High-rise tips and tail rocker generate exceptional floatation in powder and easy steering through variable conditions
- True Tip technology increases playfulness and maneuverability by trimming the amount of heavy ABS plastic in the tips and extending the lightweight wood cores into this area

Imported.

Buying Advice

How to Choose Downhill Skis

What type of terrain will you ski most?

Match your skis to the conditions and areas on the mountain you like to ski. Choices include all-mountain, powder, freestyle and backcountry skis.

Find your preferred ski length

Factor in your height and skiing ability. In general, the ski should reach between your chin and the top of your head.

Consider a ski's dimensions

A ski's dimensions are measured in width at 3 places: the tip, waist and tail. The waist (middle) is key; a narrow waist gets on edge quicker; a wider one floats better on powder.
